as it is found incarable of degeneration or deterioration.
Unlike young S. P. Townsend's, it improves with age, and never changes but for the better; because it is prepared on accinnific primeriples by a actualized mans. The highlest knowleage of Chemistry, and the fatest decoraries of the art, have all been brought more requisition in the manufacture of the Oil Dr's Sarsaparilla. The Sarsaparilla root, it is well known to madical men, contains many medicinal properties, and some properties which are lisent or useless and others, which if retained in preparing it for use, prolince formerotities and octio, which is injurious to the system. Some of the properties of Sarsaparilla are so volatife that they enterily evaporate and are lost in the preparation, if they are not preserved by a scientific process, known only to those experienced in the manufacture. Moreover, these volatific principles, which for off in vapor, or as an exhalation, under heat, are the very execution medical properties of the root, which give to it all its value.

Any person can boil or siew the root fill they get a dark colored liquid, which is more from the coloring matter in the root than from anything else; they can then strain
